

THE LAUNCHING
OF CAMPAIGN
FOR SUFFRAGE

A Large and Sympathetic Crowd Greeted Mrs. Laura Gregg Cannon at the City Hall Plaza Last Night

SOCIETY HAS MADE
BATTLE NECESSARY

Step by Step Woman's Domain Has Been Encroached Upon Until Even Her Home Is About to Be Taken

It speaks rather well for the suffrage movement in Phoenix that the vast throng who listened to Laura Gregg Cannon in the opening speech of the campaign at the city hall plaza last evening, responded generously to her appeal for funds to carry on the work during the remaining eight weeks prior to election.

A large audience had been expected, but even the hundreds of additional chairs, with the benches that crowd the grounds, failed to provide for the gathering of men and women who stood on the outskirts unwilling to leave before Mrs. Cannon completed her talk. Here, as in Yuma county, which she has been stumping the past week, she noted a different atmosphere than that which greeted her when she discussed the subject in Arizona two years ago. Men, predominated in attendance and before, where there had been tolerance, there was enthusiasm.

In her introduction Mrs. Cannon paid a tribute to the constitutional convention and in speaking of the constitution these Arizona patriots drafted she said, "It is the most progressive constitution in the United States with one exception—the enfranchisement of women. It reminds one of little Johnnie's lesson in arithmetic. The teacher divided 6 apples into groups of 2 in 3 bags and again in 3 groups, 2 in a bag and asked the boy's preference. He chose the 2 in 3. The subject was again illustrated with the same result and when Johnnie was questioned he declared his choice was due to the fact that it gave him another bag to bust. So with Arizona's true democracy, with a new trail to blaze, or another bag to bust."

The keynote of Mrs. Cannon's address was on the present industrial conditions and the woman vote as its solution.

She said in part: "Society in the past has decreed that woman's place was in the home attending to its duties and taking care of the children. The majority of women have willingly accepted that position. In all ages there have been a few women who objected to this dictum and claimed that woman should choose for herself her own proper sphere. These agitators would be received coldly by the great majority of women who were willing to obey society's decree. Then about half a century ago, society knocked at the doors of the homes and demanded that women should give over the major portion of their work to the factory and the spinning and weaving and candle making and fruit canning passed out of the home into public industry. But women made no serious objection to this because they saw in the labor saving machine an opportunity to improve their minds and devote more time to the care of their children.

A few years later society again knocked at the door of the home and demanded that the mothers should now give their daughters to the factory to operate the machines but the mothers replied that their daughters' places were in the homes not in public life and when they appealed to the fathers they replied we shall be obliged to give our daughters to industry because the machine has taken the jobs of men and fathers can no longer support all members of the family, and thus society through industry has forced more than 5,000,000 women into the factory earning wages below actual cost of living. At the door of these industries stands the agent of the white slave traffic ready to seize these underfed girls and conduct them into lives of shame and all the time these daughters are struggling with these economic conditions with their hands tied in having no vote to help in the regulation of conditions under which they must live.

"Then society knocked at the door of the homes and demanded the little children, whose mothers had been told that their place was to protect the children, but industrial conditions forced these little ones out of their homes and 2,000,000 of them are now being crushed in the treadmill of toil. Society now comes and demands the home itself. Forty-six per cent of the American people have any titles to their homes and of this 10 per cent are mortgaged so that only 36 per cent of the people own their own homes. The high cost of living together with the uncertainty of employment is causing thousands of men to refrain from assuming the responsibility of marriage and through these industrial conditions, the American home is passing away. If they continue to increase at

TWO ROSENTHAL
ARRESTS MADE

"Gyp Blood" and "Lefty Louie" Are in the Toils Following Diligent Search by Sixty Detectives of New York Police Bureau

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH] NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—"Gyp the Blood" and "Lefty Louie," indicted for the murder of Herman Rosenthal, the gambler, were arrested in Brooklyn tonight by Deputy Police Commissioner Dougherty, who took them in his automobile to police headquarters in Manhattan.

The men were arrested with their wives. The four were seated at tea when Dougherty and his men beat open the door of their apartment and with revolvers drawn ordered them to hold up their hands. Neither men showed resistance.

"Drop your guns, you've got us," said Gyp calmly. "Give us time to get dressed, will you," said Lefty with equal composure.

With the arrest of Gyp and Lefty, seven men accused of the killing of Rosenthal, of which Becker is the alleged instigator, are now in custody. Today's capture is the fruit of unbroken surveillance of the wives and relatives of the men. This surveillance was maintained by sixty detectives working in relays who kept Deputy Commissioner Dougherty in touch with what they did and where they went. The final clue followed the piecing together of conversations overheard by the detectives. The first conversation was, "They are not lonesome because they can see a moving picture show from their back windows."

Another conversation gave information that there was laundry house in the house where the missing men lived which was named either "New Brighton," "Bright" or "Brighten hand laundry." The third conversation supplied the fact that the neighborhood was full of Swedes and Germans. It then became Dougherty's task to discover a hand laundry in the vicinity of a moving picture show inhabited by foreigners of the nationalities named. A possible laundry clue was obtained less than two days ago. The detectives found the rest of the work easy and the arrests followed.

MORE TAFT MEN BOLT

EUREKA, Cal., Sept. 14.—Twenty-six adherents of Taft bolted the republican convention here today and proceeded with the organization of a convention of their own in another hall. The bolt occurred when the delegates hooted down at attempt of Taft men to prevent the endorsement of the progressive candidates.

their present rate, the blessings of home life will belong to the past, for women will have no home for which to care.

"Is it not then evident that if woman's place is in the home, she must there get to the solution of these economic problems, questions which are involved in the problems of the home?"

"We need a constructive, hopeful, force to right conditions without the shedding of blood. All our intelligence should be set to work to map out plans, that when oppression becomes intolerable, we may advance by the saner way than the fight that has heretofore marked every progressive move."

"Let the people of Arizona give to the future generation a free motherhood and free fatherhood, an ideal of democracy which they will be able to develop without bloodshed."

The meeting was the initial one of a series of open air meetings to be held under the suffrage league of Phoenix. Mrs. Eugene Brady O'Neill, the president acted as chairman.

Howard W. Gill Is Dead and George Mestach Badly Injured as the Result of an Unusual Accident Over Cicero Field

DARKNESS FACTOR
OF THE MISHAP

Both Men Had Protested to the Aero Club Officials Against Starting Race Owing to Lateness of the Hour

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH] CHICAGO, Sept. 14.—Aviator Howard W. Gill, of Baltimore, was fatally hurt at the Cicero aviation field tonight. George Mestach, of France, whose monoplane collided with Gill's biplane, seventy-five feet in the air, was picked up unconscious but not seriously injured.

Gill died an hour after the accident. At the hospital Mestach was able to talk.

"I was going at top speed to win the twelve mile race," he said, "when looking behind I saw Gill in his Wright biplane turning rapidly approaching me a few feet below. I grabbed my elevator thinking to give him ample space to clear me but he beat me. Gill must have hit my under-structure."

Gill just before he entered his machine called a friend to throw him a heavy oil coat. "I am liable to bring back some blood on this," he said. "When you go up you never can tell what shape you will be in when you come down."

Gill was a wealthy young sportsman. Last February at Los Angeles he suffered an accident similar to the one of today, falling eighty-five feet. Darkness was a factor of today's accident. Paul Beck, on the same field, met death at 5:45 p. m. Today's accident occurred at 6 o'clock.

While there was still light higher up it was almost dark near the ground. Mestach said he protested to the officials of the Aero club, of Illinois against racing in darkness, but the start was called and he went up.

ROOSEVELT IS OUT WITH NEW WILSON SLAM

Says Democratic Candidate Will Either Break Promise or Undo All Social and Industrial Advance Already Made

MAN AND PLATFORM
NOT PROGRESSIVE

Teddy Would Also Like to Know If Woodrow Would Repeat the Interstate Commerce Law Robbing Government of Power

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH] SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 14.—Wilson has advanced the program of the relation of social and industrial justice. Colonel Roosevelt said tonight, which is "either a promise that will not be kept or else it means the undoing of every particle of social and industrial advance which we have made." He declared Wilson stands for a policy which necessarily means, if that policy is honestly put into effect, that it must be against every single progressive measure.

"The trouble with Wilson," said the colonel, "is that he is following an outworn philosophy." He declared that, "In view of the democratic platform and the utterances of Wilson no man can claim to be progressive who supports Wilson on that platform and backed by that party."

Roosevelt's speech was delivered before a large crowd. He was on the train all day except for a stop of an hour at Reno where he delivered an address. Roosevelt based his criticism of Wilson on a recent speech of the governor before the New York Press club.

"The other day in New York, Wilson came out with a sweeping assault on the progressive platform and program and defined his own position as to social and industrial justice. Wilson said there was no hope for social reform through the platform of the progressive party. Roosevelt wanted to know if Wilson means to repeat the interstate commerce law which represented a great increase in governmental power."

SECURITIES CO.
SELECTS SITE
FOR BUILDING

Most Magnificent Business Structure in the State to Be Erected in Practically the Civic Center of the City

FIRST AVENUE AND MONROE ST.

Financing of the Biggest Building Enterprise in Arizona Well Under Way and Its Accomplishment Said to Be Assured

After looking most conscientiously into the building site proposition in Phoenix, the local representatives of the Realty Securities company selected with the approval of their directors the lot just across the way from the new federal building for the new office structure. To be more exact the location is the Rhart lot on the southeast corner of First avenue and Monroe adjoining the Colonial.

Situated midway between the two greatest feedways, the Washington and Indian school car lines the lot is particularly desirable as the location of places of business for men who need offices in the downtown district. Lawyers, doctors and professional men in all lines will find the new building an ideal one for locations. Besides the splendid site, the most modern fixtures and arrangements will add to the value of the Realty Securities building. Not one single consideration can deter the builders from making it an artistic triumph, and a model of convenience and neatness, city styled and of many metropolitan features.

As an attraction to men who need quiet and nearness in their places of business the building site is ideal. Away from the noise of the main street, it is still close enough to the main arteries of traffic to be convenient. Then its proximity to the federal building is a good thing for lawyers in practice at the United States courts.

When completed, the first floor will be given over to the offices of the Realty Securities company. One section will be fitted up with the best of up to date equipment for the office suites of doctors and dentists.

A feature of the building will be the right of long time lessees to say what they want in the way of office arrangement. Anyone taking a suite or room for an extended period has the choice to see it built to order, as it were. But lessees must remember the arrangements for such rooms can only be made now. Concessions cannot be granted later.

The new edifice will be built as near in the style of the cities as possible; not one sacrifice will be made of gracefulness or beauty to extra floor space. So the structure will be one of beauty as well as great utility.

This latest big building project to be brought into being in Phoenix is an undertaking on lines, locally novel. That is to say the capital for its construction is cooperative, and is to be furnished in a large part by Phoenix people. The method is through the sale of the company's stock, very largely to local people, and it is understood that over half of the stock is already placed.

BRYAN OPENS HIS CAMPAIGN

Takes Stump for Wilson in the West and Will Follow Closely the Trail Being Blazed by Roosevelt Across Country

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH] DENVER, Sept. 14.—William J. Bryan opened his campaign in the west tonight in behalf of Wilson and the democratic national ticket. Arriving at Denver early in the evening from a brief vacation, he faced a large audience in the auditorium and denounced both Taft and Roosevelt as unworthy of election to the presidency. Bryan spoke vigorously against third term.

"It would open a door which no man might be able to close," he declared. Bryan's argument against Taft was that he is not in harmony with the progressive spirit of the day. "He already has been repudiated by a majority of his own party," he said, "so that he cannot hope to poll more than one third of the vote of the country, if that large proportion." The speaker disputed Roosevelt's right to the leadership of the progressive movement. "The democratic party," he said, "was fighting for all the national reform measures when Roosevelt was opposing them. Roosevelt's position on the trust question and the third term are dangerous to the country."

He dwelt at length upon Roosevelt's attitude to the trusts and his relations to George W. Perkins, and the United States Steel corporation. In advocating the election of Wilson, Bryan commended the democratic party's platform as representing all the reforms for which the people are ready. He urged the support of Wilson as a man prepared to put these reforms into execution.

SLAYER OF FATHER

NOW KILLS SON

Sensational Murder Follows Elopement of Wife to Winnipeg.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH] AMARILLO, Texas, Sept. 14.—Al G. Boyce, Jr., was shot and killed here this afternoon by J. B. Snead, with whose wife Boyce eloped to Canada last fall. Snead was shortly to stand trial for the murder of Boyce's father, whom he shot at Fort Worth, on January 13, as a result of the elopement of the son of Snead today.

The presence of Snead in this city was not known until after the shooting. The shooting occurred within a block of the business district of the city on the principal street and shortly after it Snead surrendered to the local authorities giving up an automatic gun.

Bystanders hearing the first shot turned to see the man, apparently a tramp with a heavy growth of beard and overalls, advancing to the center of the street, firing at his victim with a shotgun. Approximately a score of buck shot took effect in Boyce's side. Snead would give no statement tonight.

The disappearance of Mrs. Snead from a Fort Worth sanitarium last fall was followed a month later by her detention with Boyce at Winnipeg, Manitoba. Mutual friends brought about a reconciliation between the banker and his wife and Boyce was released from custody after the couple had returned to Fort Worth.

Boyce, Sr., was shot and killed in the lobby of a Fort Worth hotel, January 13, last, because of remarks he is alleged to have made derogatory of Mrs. Snead. Snead was tried for the killing but the jury was unable to agree and pending the second trial, which was set for November 12, was released under bond.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH] DOUGLAS, Sept. 14.—General Sanjines and a column of eight hundred with two field pieces and five machine guns, who left Agua Prieta today, presumably to give battle to the rebels, returned to Agua Prieta before sundown tonight. They went as far as Cienega Springs, twelve miles southeast, which the rebels had evacuated twenty-four hours before.

Ismael Padilla, secretary of state of Sonora, as one of General Sanjines' advisors, said after the return of the troops, that he is satisfied the rebels had left this section of Sonora and that they would soon return to the state of Chihuahua. There has been no intimation that the federalists at Agua Prieta or elsewhere intend to pursue the rebels. Edward Haymore, the American merchant of Colonia, Morelos, who was thought to have been murdered by the rebels, was brought here late today, by Sheriff Wiscor, who made a trip in an automobile across the line in search of him. Haymore had been taken prisoner by Rojas, and had been without food two days when found. Presley Jones and James Anderson of Colonia, Morelos, who were prisoners of Salazar for five days, arrived here tonight. They reported the Rojas band of rebels headed in the direction of El Tiera and it was thought that Rojas and Salazar would join forces in that vicinity.
